ATOD-PP Goals and Assessment

The ATOD-PC of the Inter American University School of Law was established in the summer of 2011 with the mission of keeping the milieu of the campus within the spirit of the Education Department General Administrative Regulations (EDGAR) Part 86. This committee continues with the three goals in the previous Biennial 2016 for the Biennial 2017-2018:

1. Renovation of membership and participation in the “Consortio de Recursos Universitarios Sembrando Alianza de Alerta a las Drogas, el Alcohol y la Violencia” (CRUSADA)

Since its foundation in 1989, CRUSADA, a consortium of colleges and university campuses (public and private) of Puerto Rico, has been committed in sustaining a healthy social environment within the colleges and university campuses by promoting healthy lifestyles, free from alcohol and other drugs and violence. It has received the backing of the “Network Addressing Collegiate Alcohol and Other Drug Issues” of the Department of Education of the federal government. Within every biennial period and in collaboration with CORE Institute (the largest Alcohol, Tabaco and Other Drugs database about college student’s drinking and drug use in U.S.A.), CRUSADA coordinates a survey about risky behavior related to alcohol and other drugs among college students. However, each college campus is responsible for the administration of the survey. From January 2017 to present CRUSADA has had a monthly meeting

From 2015 the policies and materials are given in the electronic format and the link <http://www.derecho.inter.edu/inter/node/80> (the university's web page). The Dean of Students, Dra. Iris Camacho sends a letter to new admissions students.

ATOD-PP Strengths and Weaknesses

The ATOD-PP at the School of Law Campus complies with the federal law and meets the institution's ethical obligations to keep students and employees informed about the consequences of substance abuse. Initial steps have been taken to incorporate prevention consciousness into our curricular structure, as for example, the integration of prevention information in our in-house seminar as required for all new students, and the initial approach of the Dean of Academics to some of our teachers.

The integration of the first aid office, Student Council, Campus Security Office and Human Resources Office in collaboration with the Office of Professional Counseling for the development of prevention activities in the issues related to the Biennial. In addition, Title IX regulation is included as a continuous training for the whole university community in the subject related to sexual harassment, stalking and domestic violence on campus.

Although students have participated in different activities that are consistent with the ATOD-PC mission, we have a permanent student representation in committee referred by the Student Council. We will continue the collaboration with the representative of the Student Council into the Committee as a last recommendation in our last biennial in our effort because student organizations are effectively integrated into raising awareness of compliance policy issues.

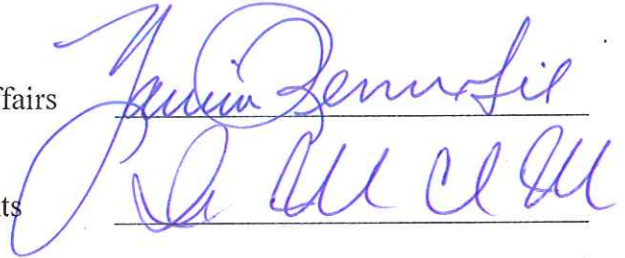

As mentioned in the previous biennial report, the Law School does not have in-house counseling or psychological resources to deal with substance abuse behavior. However it can make available the basic information in the various centers within the San Juan Metropolitan area that do provide such services. We must continue to seek efforts as a goal assigned to the next Inter-University Biennial, with non-profit organizations and other entities to strengthen support services to the student community. Managing the effort to create collaborative agreements for the provision of services: therapeutics, psychoeducational, help professionals specializing in issues, among other initiatives for improving health and safety on campus.
